COMING OF AGE

AT 100 WSSU CELEBRATES

Winston-Salem State University turns 100 years old this year. It's a milestone worthy of celebration, as well as of reflection about times past and present and of contemplation about times to come.

Winston-Salem State University wasn't always so. It grew out of humble origins and from lofty ideas sown by its founder, Dr. Simon Green Atkins, in 1892.

One hundred years ago! Imagine being one of only 25 pupils attending what was then called Slater Industrial Academy, a one-room building situated not in the Twin City but in Winston, which had not yet merged with Salem. Local blacks had come to Slater to further what little formal education was available to them at the time. There was just one teacher. The students were in very capable hands, though, so much so that the State of North Carolina took official notice of the school and the quality of instruction and, in 1897, chartered it as the Slater Industrial and State Normal School.

At first, students took high school courses and teacher training, but later all the classes were offered at the above-high school level. The state elevated the school to Winston-Salem Teachers College in 1925, an act making it the first black institution in the United States to grant the baccalaureate degree in elementary education.

WSU

In 1953, "TC," as the college was popularly known, broadened its curriculum to include nursing, and it would later offer secondary education and other specific types of training. "TC" became Winston-Salem State College in 1963 and Winston-Salem State University in 1969, although it wasn't until 1972 that it became a part of The University of North Carolina.

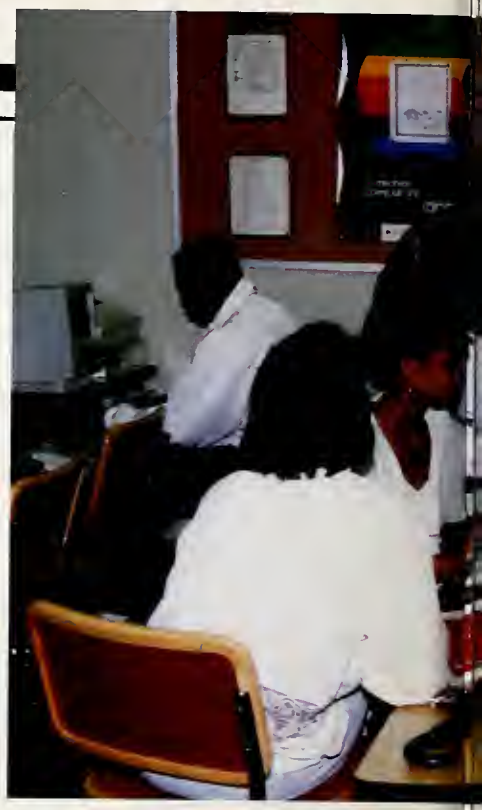
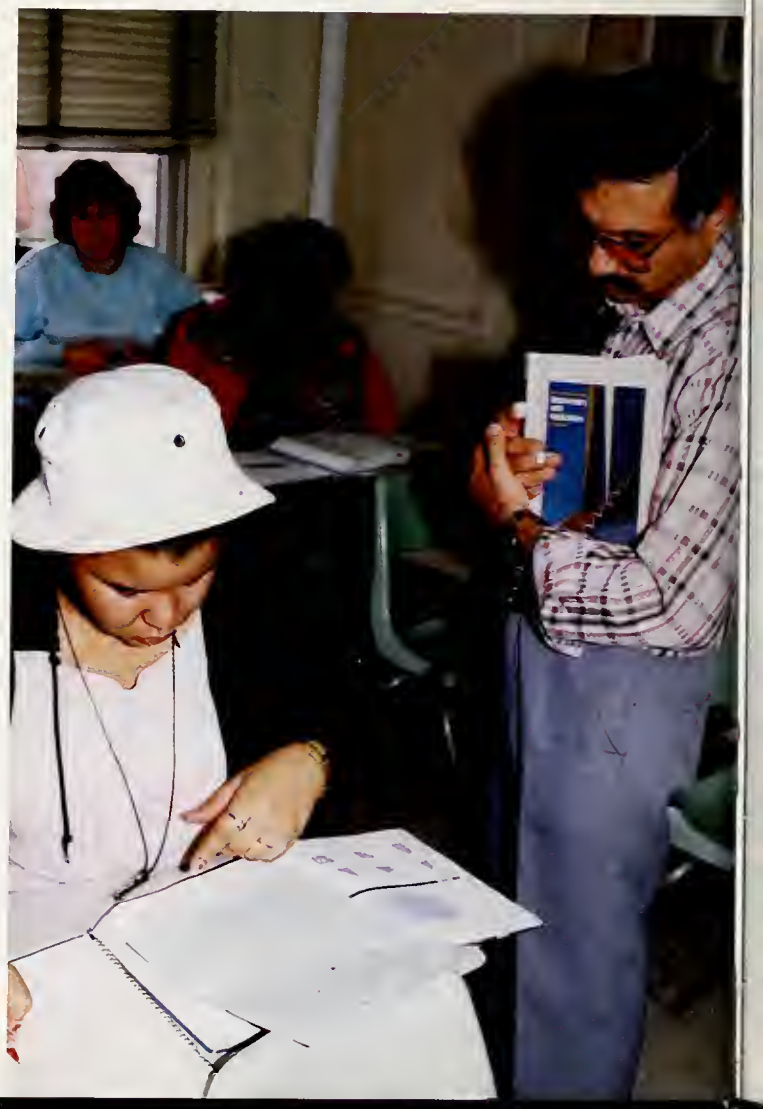
Throughout the years, the school, in all of its various configurations, grew substantially in both enrollment and physical size.

Today, 2,500 students — nearly 20 percent of them non-black — are enrolled in the more than 30 academic disciplines, among them business administration, accounting, medical technology, computer science, commercial music and chemistry. A campus Graduate Center provides master's level programs through a special arrangement with a sister UNC-institution. The campus boundaries embrace 85 acres. A spacious art gallery and a contemporary library addition are just two of the newest facilities. While innovative uses are revising the functions of older buildings, plans are progressing for a modern student services complex, a 400-student residence life hall and a pedestrian-friendly campus layout.

Private funds for student scholarships, distinguished faculty chairs and progressive academic programs are being generated by the university's $25 million Centennial Campaign. Now in its second year, the campaign is the largest of its kind ever undertaken by a historically black, public institution.





Although the school has changed both physically and academically in the last 100 years, it remains faithful to the vision of Dr. Atkins — a scholar, religious leader, author, philosopher, community planner and developer — and to "continuing a 100-year commitment to excellence."

Winston-Salem State University

Office of the Chancellor

Dear Students:

Reaching the century mark is a notable achievement whether you're celebrating a personal birthday or the existence of an institution. That's why this Centennial edition of The Ram is a significant. Cherish it as a pictorial record of a unique time in the history of Winston-Salem State University.

Celebrating the university's Centennial affords us the opportunity to look back with pride on the accomplishments of Dr. Simon Green Atkins and innumerable others, to revitalize our commitment to fully realizing his dream and to look to the future with renewed hope and expanded vision.

As you accept the challenge of the Centennial theme, "Continuing a 100-Year Commitment to Excellence," you exhibit that indomitable Ram spirit that has brought us this far. Congratulations on taking your place in the University's history!

Warmest regards,

Cleon F. Thompson, Jr.

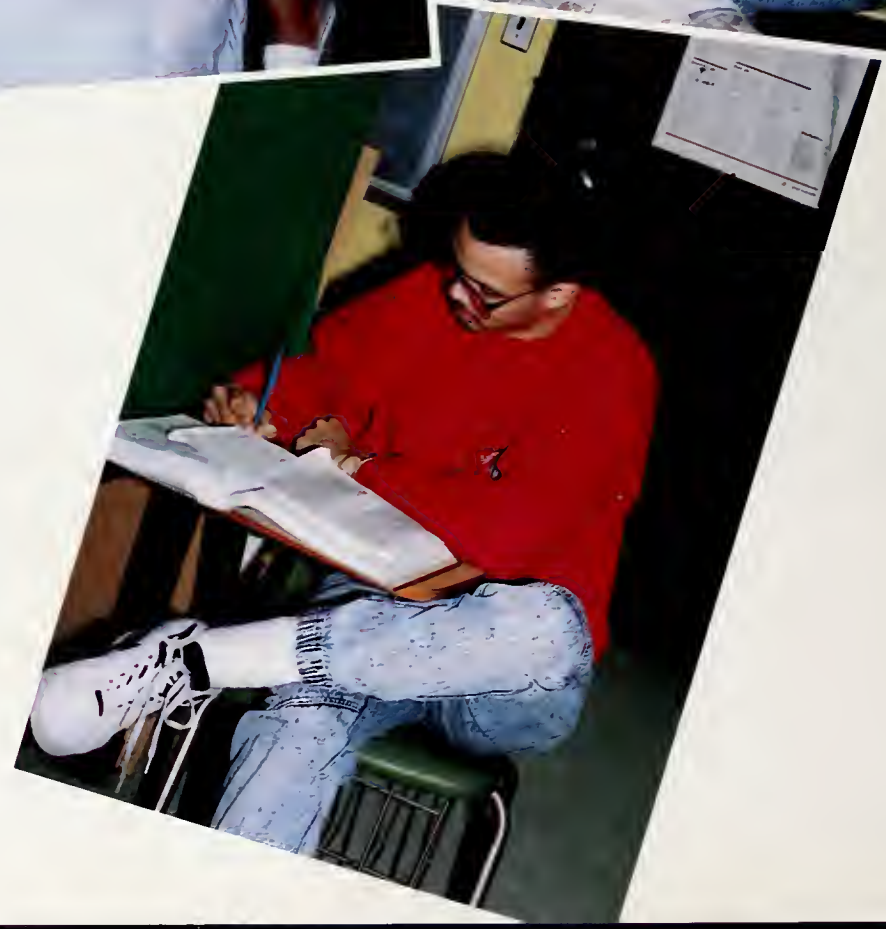
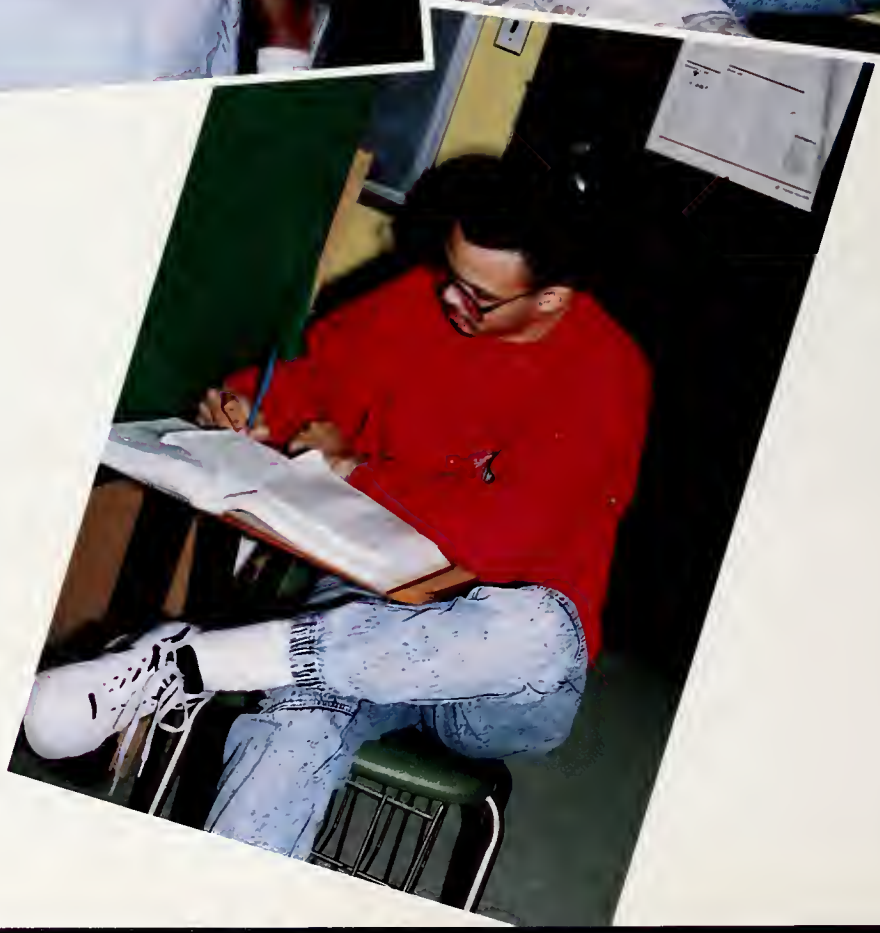
THE 1992

Miss Margaret Poston
Senior Class Advisor

CENTENNIAL CLASS





SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

It was a crisp summer morning in August 1988 when the Class of 1992 arrived on the lovely campus of Winston-Salem State University.

As freshmen, we had many goals to reach and many dreams to fulfill. We began our freshman year by electing Aaron "A.J." Eddings as our Freshman Class President, Kendrick Leak as our Vice-President, and Twanjua White as Miss Freshman. Mrs. Margaret Poston was selected to serve as our class advisor. Some of the freshmen activities included attending chapel programs service programs, and dances. The year of 1988 was a success as the freshman class excelled academically. We took part in many of the campus organizations such as the University Choir and the Marching Band. Many of us experienced our first college homecoming, while the football team saw another CIAA championship. WSSU had special presentations from famous personalities Nikki Giovanni and Yolanda King.

Our freshman year ended in a unique fashion. We elected the sophomore class officers in April, and experienced one of God's natural disasters — a tornado which swept through our campus on May 5, 1989, one day before commencement exercises. Our first commencement was held outside of the Winston-Salem Memorial Coliseum.

In August of 1989, the class of 1992 entered its sophomore year with the intent of becoming involved in all academic and social organizations. David Leakes and LaVoice Faison had been elected as Sophomore Class President and Miss Sophomore, respectively.

Our sophomore year was not only a time for advancement, but also a time for expansion of O'Kelly Library. Along with this expansion came repairs from the destruction of Hurricane Hugo.

The 1989-90 school year ended with the election of Ginetta A. Evans as Junior Class President and Jennifer Harris as Miss Junior.

Realizing that we had completed half of our undergraduate studies at Winston-Salem State University, the Junior Class began to think seriously about their careers after graduation. Many juniors were represented in Who's Who Among American Colleges and Universities. The football team had taken the title as CIAA champions once again, and the students of Winston-Salem State University began to use an expanded O'Kelly Library to its fullest capacity. Louis Farrakan made a visit to "Ole SU," and Soviet students came to study abroad as part of the international exchange program. We were also entertained by the Newark Boys Chorus and the outstanding musical production "Momma Don't." The Junior Class was active with different fundraisers and activities such as doughnut sales, candy gram sales, and the most memorable event, the Junior Class Banquet. In the spring, the Junior Class was active in the Carmen Poss Fund drive with the class raising close to $500.00 for Baby Carmen.

We ended the year by electing Luther Johnson, Jr., Senior Class President and Kimberly Fair, Miss Senior.

August 19, 1991 — The centennial class of Winston-Salem State University began its final year as undergraduate students. The Senior Class began its year with five dedicated and determined officers. Plans were made to take the ultimate class trip . . . a cruise to Nassau and the Blue Lagoon Island. On Senior Day during homecoming week, scheduled activities were a class sweatshirt sale (purple and green), the "Fright Night Costume Party," and, of course, the ever-popular Senior Class Homecoming Banquet. To celebrate its centennial birthday, Winston-Salem State University had numerous performances scheduled such as The Winans and Shikisha.

The Senior Class knew that the time would come when they would depart Winston-Salem State University and begin a whole new life . . . a life full of laughter, tears, failures, and success; a life that Winston-Salem State University had prepared them for. As we accept the challenge of "TO HOPE IS TO HAVE FAITH; TO HAVE FAITH IS TO SUCCEED" on Saturday, May 2, 1992 in the Lawrence Joel Veterans Memorial Coliseum, we also accept the challenge of becoming ambassadors of a great institution that has paved the way for an enriching future for its alumni. Our hats are off to you, Winston-Salem State University, for believing in us and for helping us to believe in ourselves.

WINSTON-SALEM STATE UNIVERSITY CHOIR

The Winston-Salem State University Choir is one of the oldest continuing student organizations on the campus. There is evidence to prove that the institution of the choir pre-dates the Department of Fine Arts/Music, of which it is now a part. In the illustrious past of the choir, names such as Noah Ryder appear as one of the founding fathers of both the choir and the Department of Music. After Noah Ryder, the famous composer and conductor, the choir was led by the late Dr. James A. Dillard. Other composers and conductors that have continued the unforgettable traditions of the choir have been Dr. Roland Allison, Dr. Robert Morris, Dr. Permilla Dunston, and Dr. James Kinchen, Jr. The choir has performed commissioned works, such as On Imagination, and I Too by Undine Smith Moore. The choir also sings with the symphony and orchestra when major works are programmed. The University Choir is now under the leadership of D'Walla Simmons.

IN MEMORIAM TO MISS CANDACE LEE BLAKELY

Farewell To My Best Friend

I never really had the chance to say good-bye. I catch myself many times wiping tears from my eyes. Deep down in my heart I still can't believe that you are gone. A very sweet, loving and caring person, so young and full of life taken away from us all.

I keep dreaming that you'll be back very soon, but I guess I should know that dream will never come true.

I'll miss our little talks and all of our trips, sometimes I can still hear you laugh and see your smile in my mind but most of all I will miss you encouraging me and standing right by my side.

You are in a better place now where you don't have to worry about anything because God will take care of you.

I know you would want all of us to be strong, I can hear you say to us now; "It will be o.k.," but it will be hard to just let my best friend go. The last words I ever said to you and you to me, "Have a safe trip and a Happy Thanksgiving." But while I know I have your attention let me say, "Candi I am glad to have had a best friend like you.

I miss you and love you.

Farewell my best friend,
Love Always Chandra Alston

NEW CHANGES ON THE CAMPUS OF WSSU

This year there are many new additions to our campus. After the terrible storm hit us on May 5, 1989, it destroyed many of the beautiful trees which decorated the campus. As a result of the tree fund, the efforts of the administration, faculty, parents, and the community new trees are now being planted. The trees donated were tagged with the name of the giver to show our appreciation. Another addition to the campus are the signs to denote each building. These signs really do stand out and make our campus look great. A third change on campus is the new security booth located at the main entrance of the campus.

MAKING ROOM FOR NEW BUILDINGS AT WSSU

The demolition of houses began along Vargrave Street on January 22, 1992. The demolition came as our university enters its 100th year celebration. The university will now build a $9 million dormitory this spring. Over the past year, nineteen acres of land was bought by the Winston-Salem State Foundation for 2.5 million dollars for use in development for the university. Shown below are Chancellor Thompson and Marshall B. Bass, Chairman of the Winston-Salem State Foundation helping with the demolition on Vargrave Street.

UPWARD BOUND

In 1965, the Office of Economic Opportunity conceptualized the Upward Bound Program. Upward Bound is a special program designed to generate skills and motivation necessary for success in education beyond high school. It is for youth from low-income families who have academic potential but lack adequate secondary school preparation.

Since initial funding of Upward Bound in 1966, Project Upward Bound has continued to be housed on the campus of Winston-Salem State University for the city of Winston-Salem. Currently, eighty-five Winston-Salem/Forsyth County public school students, grades 9-12 are being served.

ATHLETICS

WSSU

History of Rams Athletics

The Rams Athletic Program has had a proud and successful tradition for many years. In 1932, Hunter Johnson took charge of the athletic program. In 1933, Harold Taylor was selected to head the first formal physical education and athletic program. Remetha Spurlock took over as Head of Women's Athletics. The athletic program consisted of men's and women's basketball, volleyball and baseball.

WSSU's first conference affiliation was in the Eastern Intercollegiate Athletic Association (EIAC). Other teams in the conference included Fayetteville, Elizabeth City, Norfolk and Allen. The Rams remained in the EIAC until they were admitted to the Central Intercollegiate Athletic Association (CIAA) in 1946.

FOOTBALL

Football was added to the athletic program in 1942. Howard "Brutus" Wilson was given the task to make Ram's football competitive. In the teams first year, Wilson directed the Rams to the Flower Bowl in Jacksonville, Florida and the Rams winning tradition was born.

C.E. "Bighouse" Gaines succeeded Wilson in 1946. Since then, the Rams have had only four (4) head coaches: Thomas "Tank" Conrad (1950-69), Cleo Wallace (1970-1975), Bill Hayes (1976-87) and current coach Pete Richardson.

The rams are currently the defending CIAA Champs and are seeking a bid to participate in their 6th straight CIAA Championship game.

Rams that have made their way to the National Football League include Timmy Newsome (Dallas), Alvin Powell (Seattle), and Anthony Blaylock (Cleveland).

BASKETBALL

Basketball began as a club sport in 1931. Pete Butler was the club's faculty advisor and J.T. Diggs served as student coach. At that time, neither man could conceive of the notion that the Rams would become a national power and be the home of the second (2nd) most winningest coach in the history of College baksteball - Clarence "Bighouse" Gaines.

Gaines took over in 1946 and has amassed 785 wins, second only to the legendary Adolf Rupp. Under Gaines, the Rams won a National Championship in 1967. The star of that team was Earl "The Pearl" Monroe who later went on to fame with the Baltimore Bullets and New York Knicks. Other players who went on to stardom were Joe Cunningham, Carl Green, Cleo Hill, Charlie Riley, James Reid, Earl Williams, Reginald Gaines and Otis Hill.

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL

In 1932, women's basketball was introduced at Winston-Salem State. Although James T. Diggs coached in those early years, Remetha Spurlock was the first official coach of the women's team. The ladies were surprisingly competitive their first year. Tuskegee and Bennett College were among the WSSU victims. Two of the charter members of that team were Flo Sitgraves and Ruth Lee Peebles.

In the late 40's, women's basketball was discontinued. In the early 70's it was reintroduced. In 1987-88, Angela Henderson of WSSU led the nation in rebounding averaging over 13 per game.

For the past eight seasons, the head coach of the Lady Rams has been Stenson Conley. Conley is a graduate from WSSU and a former player under the instruction of "Bighouse" Gaines.

TRACK AND FIELD

In 1947, Archibald Marrow joined the athletic staff and started the Rams Track and Field Program. Because of Coach Marrow's know how and connections, the team became an instant success. When Wilbur Ross took over as head coach, the Rams entered their most successful era. The Rams won five (5) CIAA Championships and back to back NAIA Titles in the 60's and 70's. The most famous athlete on the team was Elias Gilbert. Other members from this championship era included Joe Middleton, Carl Braun, Fran Washington, Russ Rogers, Godfrey Matthews, Godfrey Moore, Elwood Robinson and dual sport athlete Robert Jackson, who was a starting tight end in football and a pole vaulter, hurdler, high jumper, long jumper and triple jump champion.

SPRING SPORTS

Over the years, the Rams Athletic Program has become varied. The Spring Sports include baseball, golf, tennis and softball, along with wrestling (a fall sport), all these sports have made a tremendous impact on WSSU Athletics.

Baseball began in the 20's. The Rams competed with teams such as J.C. Smith, A&T, Livingstone and Shaw — the same teams the Rams play today.

Former coaches include Thomas Conrad, Cleo Wallace and Baxter Holman. Among the many standout players, Willie Cater, Grant Green, Roy Gerald and Jody Wilson were some of the best.

Softball came to WSSU in the 70's. The first coach was Marcelene Scales. Through the years, Rams softball has succeeded all the way up to the present under Coach Tim Grant.

In the 1970's, Wrestling arrived at WSSU under the guidance of John X. Miller. Coaches succeeding Miller include Baxter Holman, Mike Edwards and Melvin Fair. The Ram wrestlers have won four (4) CIAA Championships.

Golf came of age in 1960's, under the direction of Thomas Conrad. The Rams won (5) consecutive CIAA Championships in a row in the 60's and 70's. The Rams first CIAA Gold Medalist was Charlie Click.

In the 1940's, tennis became popular at WSSU. J.T. Diggs, Jr. was the first tennis coach. Since then, John X. Miller, Hugh Smith and Al Rosebora have taken the helm. Satndout tennis stars included Charlie Brown, Nathaniel Laws, Reggie Isley and Kevin Crawford.

RAM ATHLETIC DIRECTOR 1991-1992

Donna Claytor — Sports Information Director

Al Roseboro

ATHLETIC DIRECTOR

In his second year as athletic director, Albert L. "Al" Roseboro brings the experience of a seasoned veteran to his position. A native of Charlotte, NC, he has spent the past 23 years in Winston-Salem in sports and marketing positions.

Roseboro's sports trek began when he was a youngster. He established a reputation as a talented athlete in junior high school where he excelled in several sports. He continued his athletic prowess at West Charlotte High School, earning letters in football and basketball. As an undergraduate at Winston-Salem State, Roseboro played offensive guard and was a Co-Captain on the Ram football squad.

A 1965 graduate of Winston-Salem State University with a Master's degree from NC A & T State University, Roseboro worked with the U.S. Job Center in Kentucky as recreation supervisor and special education advisor for three years before returning to the Twin City. From 1968-69, he was recreation director for the North Carolina Advancement School. He was program director at the Patterson Avenue YMCA from 1969-72 before becoming a sales and public relations representative for Cloverdale Ford in 1972.

Since 1974, Roseboro has been an instructor and coach at WSSU. He has taught skills and theory courses in physical education and coached several sports, most recently, volleyball and tennis. The ever-loquacious AD has also been the "Voice of the Rams" and the "Voice of the CIAA" as play-by-play announcer for football and basketball contests.

Roseboro is a very community-oriented person who devotes time to teaching sports skills to children and officiating and coaching youth games. He especially enjoys working with his youngest son, Travis. He also has three adult children: Eric, LaForest and Darrell. Roseboro is married to the former Agnes W. Hodges.

For The Past Century, Many of Those Stars Have Landed in Springfield, Massachusetts!

BASKETBALL 100 1891-1991 CENTENNIAL

Since 1891, Basketball has become "The Game Played Worldwide." In less than nine years, before the turn of the century, The Game had spread from its birth in Springfield, Massachusetts, to nations all over the world.

The Basketball Hall of Fame, in the city of The Game's birth, brings a century of Basketball to life.

The Basketball Hall of Fame honors the men and women and even four teams that have brought the excitement of The Game to millions of fans throughout The Game's first century. All levels of The Game—amateur, high school, collegiate, professional, international—are featured in the Basketball Hall of Fame, a memorial to the only major sport founded in America and played in over 170 nations.

Original Basketball memorabilia, life-size photos, and participatory, state-of-the-art exhibits bring The Game to life before your eyes. You can see the actual uniforms of some of the greatest players who ever lived, or catch the action of today's game in such special presentations as "Hoopla" and "Play 52." Try your jumping abilities in the exhibit "How High Is Up?" or test your shooting talents in the popular "Shoot Out" exhibit. Highlight your visit with a trip through the time tunnel and experience some of the greatest moments in Basketball history.

C.E. "Bighouse" Gaines

Come and see a century of these spectacular moments, as well as an exciting look at today's game. Join the Hall of Fame Annual Membership for special discounts, the Hall of Fame Year Book, a quarterly Newsletter, posters, and special invitations to Basketball Hall of Fame events, including Enshrinement Ceremonies. If you'd like free information on Annual Membership or other programs, call, write, or visit.

MOTHER TO SON

Well, son, I'll tell you:
Life for me ain't been no crystal stair.
It's had tacks in it,
And splinters,
And boards torn up,
And places with no carpet on the floor—
Bare.
But all the time
I'se been a-climbin' on,
And reachin' landin's,
And turnin' corners,
And sometimes goin' in the dark
Where there ain't been no light.
So boy, don't you turn back.
Don't you set down on the steps
'Cause you finds it's kinder hard.
Don't you fall now—
For I'se still goin', honey,
I'se still climbin',
And life for me ain't been no crystal stair.

—Langston Hughes

I AM A BLACK WOMAN

I am a black woman
tall as a cypress strong beyond all definition still defying place

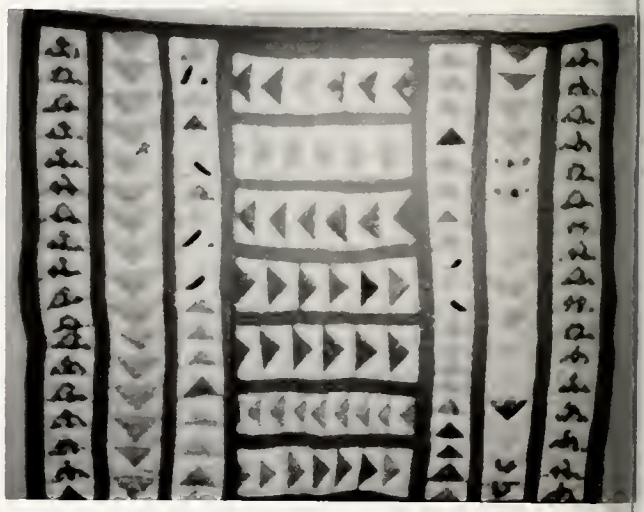
AFRICAN-AMERICAN QUILTMAKING



Their name is Shikisha, a Zulu word that means "belt it out, sing and dance like you never sang and danced before." They are three women from Durban, South Africa, who perform traditional Zulu dances, chants and drumming, plus exhilarating street dances and original songs set to Township Music. They have delighted audiences from the Ivory Coast to Indonesia, Norway to Nigeria, Tokyo to Toronto and all over Europe.

Shikisha was formed in 1981 by Betty Boo Hlela, Julia Mathunjwa and Doreen Webster, three South African expatriates living in London. All three had extensive performance training and experience before joining to form Shikisha. Wearing authentic beaded costumes, they present a powerful union of voice and movement that is a perfect vehicle for the music whose rhythms gave birth to Jazz and Rhythm and Blues.

Shikisha's performance begins with traditional drumming, chants and dances of the Shangaan, Sotho, Xhosa and Zulu peoples. They also include examples of Township Music such as the "Miners' Gumboot Dance" and Mbaqanga, one of Africa's hardest, rawest dance sounds.

In addition to their exciting performances, the members of Shikisha give workshops for schools, art centers, community centers and community organizations. Workshops include: South African Dance, Drumming,Singing and, perhaps most interesting, Zulu Bead Work.

HISTORY OF BLACK COLLEGE DAY

BLACK COLLEGE DAY began in 1980 and oh what a day it was! It was an event in which students from predominantly black colleges across the country gathered in Washington, DC to save their BLACK COLLEGES. The event was organized and led by journalist Tony Brown, who really motivated the students to save their schools.

Though there were students from all around, the two buses of Rams from Winston-Salem State University proved to be the most spirited. Some colleges sent as many as fifteen buses, but the Rams prevailed. "Ain't no way you can beat a Ram . . ."

The students first met at the ellipse, where they listened to inspiring speakers, enjoyed the music of the marching bands, and spectated the beautiful black college queens. Incidentally, but not surprisingly, WSSU's own Miss Lauretta Battle was first runner-up in the Miss Black College Day Pageant.

Excited and ready to save what was theirs, the students united and marched down the multi-laned streets of DC to the capital, singing the theme of the day "Save Black Colleges"!!! The inspired Rams changed many of their sport's cheers to black college cheers, and led the way to the capital. Chanting "What do you want?" "BC's What's that? Black colleges. Which-a-way? Everyway . . ." The Rams had the entire crowd joining their unique vivacity and enthusiasm. Though the president did not come out to listen to them, they made him hear in his house, for determination was what made the event a success.

Upon reaching the capital, the students assembled on the lawn and walls to listen to more stimulating speakers. Dick Gregory proved to be the favorite. He brought the students to their feet as they gave him a standing ovation.

After a full day of rallying and supporting the black college, the students returned to their buses, satisfied with the efforts they had exhibited. Since the event is to be an annual one, the students left looking forward to a more inspirational time next year. Afterall, our schools are all that we have left, and we must SAVE BLACK COLLEGES!!!

It was a gorgeous summer day in April 1991 when our yearbooks were issued straight off the press. Below are some students enjoying the yearbook and reminiscing about the past year.

CLUB RAM '92

In November, our student union ballroom was transferred into "Club Ram," the most exciting night spot on the WSSU campus. The evening was filled with food, non-alcoholic drinks, music, and a fashion show for entertainment from our very own talented WSSU family and from the Twin Cities area. It was a night of elegance that ended with a dance until 1:00 a.m. This event was sponsored by our SGA and was the idea of Tonya Battle, SGA Secretary of Social Affairs.

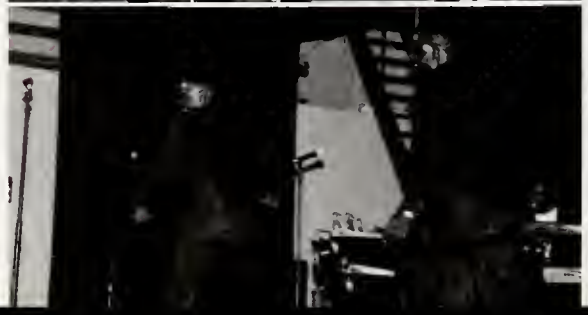
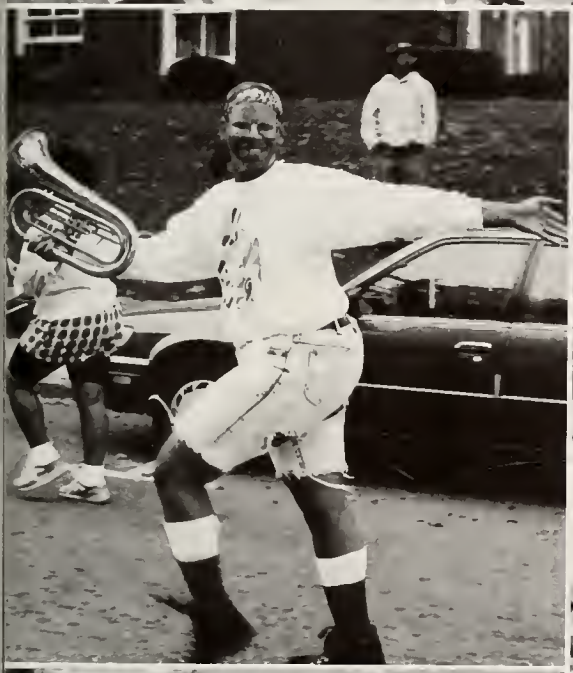
THE FABULOUS SHIRLEY MURDOCK CONCERT

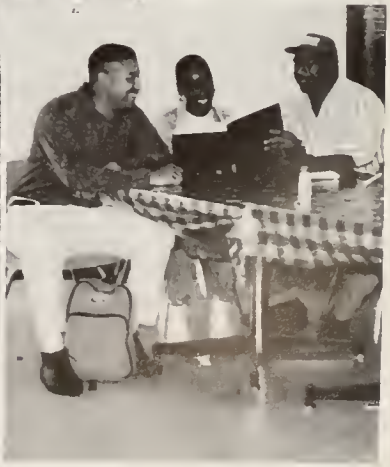
Shirley Murdock visited our campus and put on a dynamite show! She performed some of her old hits as well as some from her new album. The crowd really got into the act and made Ms. Murdock feel right at home. Shirley, We Love You!



RAM UNITY

One thing that has always been on the campus of Winston-Salem State University is that RAM PRIDE AND SPIRIT!!! It will always remain!





WSSU FACULTY SPEAK OUT . . .

Winston-Salem State University has provided a quality education for thousands of students who would not have been able to get one any other way.
Dr. Howard A. Barnes
Dept. of Social Sciences

The WSSU story is told through the productive lives of its many graduates throughout the nation and beyond.
Dr. Winston A. Bell
Dept. of Fine Arts

Over the past 100 years, Winston-Salem State University has extended its mission to provide more quality education programs at the baccalaureate level for a more diverse student population.
Mrs. Elsie C. Blackman
Dept. of Business/Economics

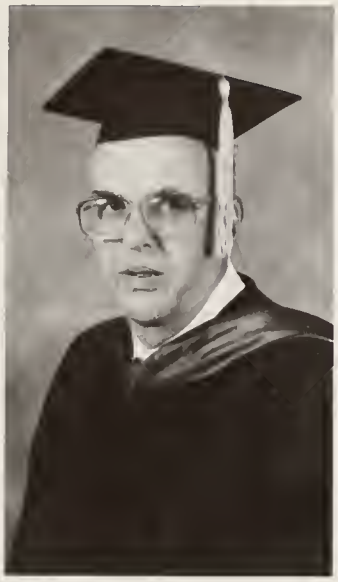
WSSU has provided for the past 100 years passport to the future for people who would not have had the opportunity, otherwise. In the words of MALCOM X . . . Education is our passport to the future, for tomorrow belongs to the people who prepare for it today!
Dr. Vivian M. Chenault
Medical Technology

I have enjoyed my brief stay in WSSU. The University hos made great efforts to create a reputable academic and social environment. The payoffs will help the university to achieve a high growth in the future, and I wish to be a part of this success.
Dr. Rowland C. Chidomere
Dept. of Business/Economics

WSSU has become a strong hold in this community city, and state. Trouble hard work and dedication we had succeeded to, enter to learn, depart to serve!
Mr. Timothy A. Grant
Dept. of Physical Education

Within the past 100 years, WSSU has increased its student enrollment with a larger number of them being academically talented, increased the number of its faculty holding the terminal degree, increased the number of degree granting programs, added a campus radio station, a sculpture garden, the Diggs Gallery, improved and constructed new buildings that have made it one of the most attractive campuses in the state.

Dr. Elwanda D. Ingram
Dept. of English/Foreign Language



WSSU has provided a source of education, research and cultural enrichment for the Winston-Salem area during this very dynamic period of American history. The role of the minority school in assisting its students to meet the challenges of this rapidly changing word has been of increasing importance. Today WSSU is poised to meet the challenges of the next one hundred years.

Dr. William F. Kauder Jr.
Dept. of Business/Economics

WSSU has made tremendous gains in the pursuit of liberal arts education and has made such an education affordable to many. In deed, the standards have increased significantly even in such troubled times when some argue of a nation-wide decline in academic standard.

Dr. Donald D. MacThompson
Dept. of Social Sciences

During the past 100 years, W.S.S.U. has effectively produced leaders in such fields of study as education, business, and government. Because W.S.S.U. has been successful in these fields of study, the community, city, state, and nation have become better places to live.

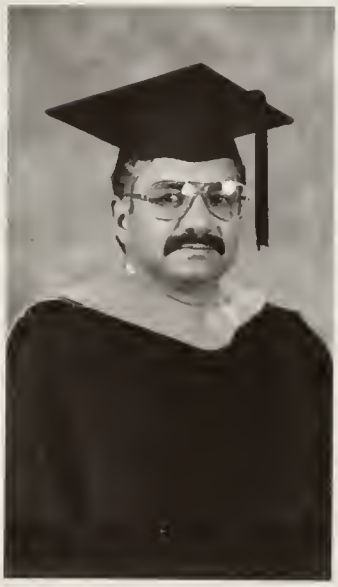
Brian C. Blount
Dept. of Mass Communications

Winston-Salem State University has become an accredited four-year institution of higher learning with competent faculty steering the minds of our energetic black young adults and all others that have entered these hallowed halls. We've been able to offer them a quality education and expose them to the fine arts as well.

Ms. D'walla Y. Simmons
Dept. of Fine Arts

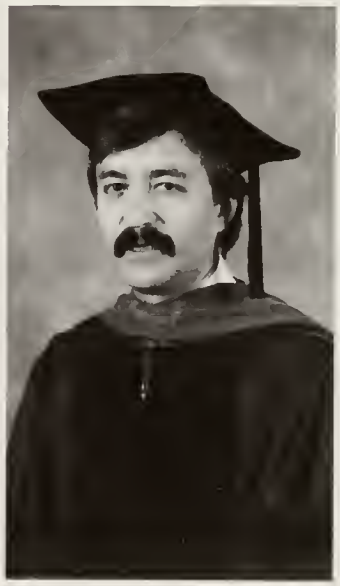
Winston-Salem State University's major accomplishment in the past 100 years is that it has consistently provided a warm, friendly and familial environment in which students can pursue either a liberal or specialized education. This is not a trivial accomplishment, considering the impersonal and hostile educational and social environment that exists in many university campuses around the country today.

Dr. Ike A. Okonta
Dept. of Social Sciences



WSSU has been an excellent educational center and a valuable source of opportunity for students, particularly minority students when other schools and sources have not been available for them.

Dr. Mansour Samimi
Dept. of Math/Computer Science



WSSU has been a source of pride for many African Americans and a convergence point for a culturally diverse faculty.

Dr. Manuel P. Vargas
Dept. of Education

WSSU has made excellent progress. It has grown in the number of buildings as well as enrollment and the number of faculty and staff. I am pretty sure it will soon be a recognized regional institution of higher learning. GOOD LUCK WSSU!!

Dr. Samiha E. Youssef
Dept. of Education

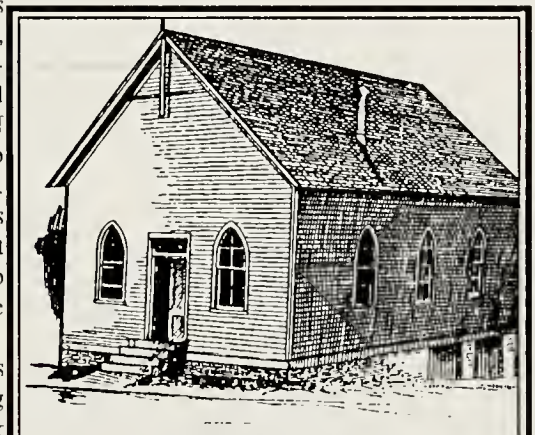
HISTORICAL SKETCH

WINSTON-SALEM STATE UNIVERSITY

Winston-Salem State University was founded as the Slater Industrial Academy on September 28,1892. It began in a one-room frame structure with 25 pupils and one teacher. In 1895, the school was recognized by the State of North Carolina and, in 1897, it was chartered by the state as Slater Industrial and State Normal School.

From the beginning, the school insisted upon the vital importance of elementary school teachers in any program of building an improved citizenship; and emphasis, therefore, was constantly placed upon the quality and quantity of training for these teachers. In 1925, the General Assembly of North Carolina recognized the school's curriculum above high school, changed its name to Winston-Salem Teachers College, and empowered it under authority of the State Board of Education to confer appropriate degrees. Winston-Salem Teachers College thus became the first Negro institution in the nation to grant degrees for teaching the elementary grades.



Our first building

The Nursing School was established in 1953, awarding graduates the degree of bachelor of science. The basic nursing program covers four academic years of study with equal emphasis on academic and professional education.

In 1957, the North Carolina General Assembly revised the charter of the college and authorized the expansion of the curriculum to include secondary education and any other specific types of training as directed and determined by the State Board of Higher Education. The North Carolina General Assembly of 1963 authorized the changing of the name from Winston-Salem Teachers College to Winston-Salem State College. A statute designating Winston-Salem State College as Winston-Salem State University received legislative approval in 1969.

On October 30, 1971, the General Assembly reorganized higher education in North Carolina; and on July 1,1972, Winston-Salem State University became one of 16 constituent institutions of The University of North Carolina, subject to the control of a Board of Governors. Today, Winston-Salem State has a student enrollment of approximately 2,500 and offers three degree options. Major programs include accounting, business administration, commercial music, computer science, economics and medical technology, among many others. The Graduate Center offers courses leading to master's degrees in business administration and educational administration and supervision.

Winston-Salem State University is situated on an 85-acre tract near downtown Winston-Salem. The Albert H. Anderson Center serves as the university's comprehensive conference facility. It also houses the John F. and Lillian B. Lewis Microelectronics Center, a data and two-way color video network that links North Carolina universities to shared resources through teleclasses, seminars and teleconferences.

Former chief administrators of the institution are Simon Green Atkins, President, 1892-1904 and 1913 -1934; Cadd Grant O'Kelly, President, 1904-1910; Francis Marion Kennedy, President, 1910-1913; Francis Loguen Atkins, President,1934-1961; Kenneth Raynor Williams, President, 1961-1972 and Chancellor,1972-1977; DouglasCovington, Chancellor, 1977-1984; and Haywood L. Wilson, Jr., Acting Chancellor, 1984-1985. Cleon Franklin Thompson, Jr. became the university's chancellor and eighth chief administrator in August of 1985.

The university has a standing commitment to maintain a high standard of excellence in its academic offerings, to stimulate intellectual inquiry, and to provide students with the concepts and skills necessary to meet the challenges of today's society.

WINSTON-SALEM, NORTH CAROLINA

ALMA MATER
As we go forth from old State U.
A song of praise we sing to you
In praises to the memory
Of days at State University.

Thy sons and daughters bring thee fame
Through knowledge which we here have gained
Exultingly we raise thy name,
O Winston-Salem State University.

As we go forth from old State U.
Good leaders we will always be.
And stand for Christianity,
As you've taught us, State University

In all we so we shall proclaim
To all the world thy teaching fame
As we go forth we praise thy name,
O Winston-Salem State University.

— Noah F. Ryder

CLEON FRANKLIN THOMPSON, JR.

Cleon F. Thompson, Jr., the son of Mrs. Maggie E. Thompson and the late Cleon F. Thompson, Sr., is a native of Harlem in New York. Reared and educated in Bennettsville, South Carolina, he earned the bachelor's degree in biology at North Carolina Central University in 1956, the master's degree in biology at NCCU in 1958, and the Ph.D. degree in educational administration at Duke University in 1977. His doctoral studies also included three minors: political science, economics and educational law.

As Winston-Salem State University's eighth chief administrator, Dr. Thompson offers an extensive background in educational administration. He has served as vice president for student services and special programs for the University of North Carolina General Administration; interim chancellor for North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University; and senior vice president, provost and vice president for academic affairs at Shaw University. In addition, he has several teaching experiences to his credit. A veteran of the United States Army, Dr. Thompson was a research technician in the Burn Surgical Research Unit of Brooks Army Hospital at Fort Sam Houston Texas.

Dr. Thompson has written and/or co-authored a plethora of scholarly articles on topics ranging from "Design and Construction of a Lyophilization Apparatus from Scrapped Equipment for United States Army Medical Corps" to The Revised North Carolina State Plan for the Further Elimination of Racial Duality in Public Higher Education Systems, Phase II. His past and present affiliations include the American Association of University Professors, the American Association for the Advancement of Science, Boy Scouts of America (District Commissioner), Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity, and the National Association for Equal Opportunity in Higher Education. He is a member of the Advisory Council of the North Carolina Community College System and the Boards of Directors of the Shakespeare Festival (High Point, NC), the Microelectronics center of North Carolina and the Ralph Campbell Scholarship Fund.

EDWINA WHITE THOMPSON Married to Chancellor Cleon F. Thompson, Jr., the University's eighth chief executive (1985-present), Mrs. Thompson's spirited personality has made her an invaluable asset to Winston-Salem State and the community. She serves on no fewer than eight boards, among them Forsyth Court Volunteers, the Winston-Salem Downtown Development Corporation and Forsyth County Tourism Development Authority. An avid supporter of the arts, Mrs. Thompson is the chairman of the Arts Council of Winston-Salem/Forsyth County and a board member of Reynolda House Museum of American Art. She has organized numerous University events, from alumni gatherings to Centennial Campaign cultivation receptions. Her professional positions include drug prevention coordinator for a federally funded program at six North Carolina colleges and special assistant for student affairs at N.C. State University.

DR. HAYWOOD LESTER WILSON, JR.

Dr. Haywood L. Wilson, Jr. was born on September 18, 1941 in Winston-Salem North Carolina. He began his higher education right here at our industrious home, Winston-Salem State University in 1960. As a student he was recognized in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities and elected to Alpha Kappa Mu National Honor Society. He received his Bachelor's degree in Education and a strong root in his preferred area of study in less than four years as a Magna Cum Laude graduate. He started teaching in the Winston-Salem/Forsyth County School System in 1963 but in two years he also began serving as an Assistant Principal. It was at that time that he was recognized as Outstanding Teacher of the year. While working with the school system he also began study at N.C. A&T State University in 1966. In 1968, he received his M.S. in Educational Administration and became Administrative Assistant to the Executive Director of the Piedmont University Center (Consortium of Public and Private Colleges in North Carolina). In one year's time he again found himself back home on the campus of WSSU. However, he was now serving as Assistant to the President, Dr. Kenneth R. Williams. The next year he took on the position of Director of Student Affairs. In 1973, he began to further his education at Southern Illinois University. In 1975 when he received his Ph.D. in Education with a specialization in Higher Educational Administration he also was elected to Phi Delta Kappa Professional Educational Fraternity. His devotion to WSSU was shown again in 1977 when he returned and served as Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs. He briefly stepped from this position to become Acting Chancellor in 1984. In 1985 he returned to Student Affairs where he currently serves as a splendid Vice Chancellor with various recognitions and honors by WSSU and the community and numerous affiliations with national and local organizations.

ROSA TRIBBLE WILSON
The First Lady for one year (her husband, Student Affairs Vice Chancellor Haywood L. Wilson, Jr., served as interim chancellor during 1984-85), Mrs. Wilson balanced University-related duties with teaching full-time in the Gifted and Talented Program at Brunson Elementary School (which she still does) and shuttling two energetic teenagers to piano lessons, football practice and other extracurricular activities — all the while keeping the "home fires burning," she says, so that Dr. Wilson could ease the transition of the University from one era to the next.

About Our Centennial Logo

The official Winston-Salem State University Centennial logo was designed by Lemuel L. Johnson, a member of the Class of 1954.

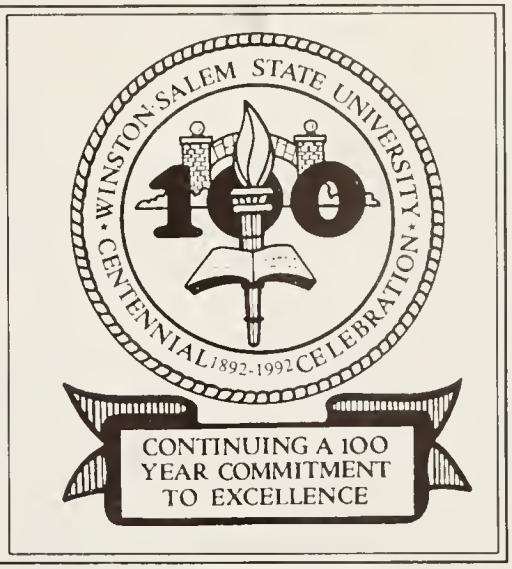
The logo was designed to represent several important aspects of WSSU's history.

The archway, which serves as a landmark, is the original entrance to the campus and was included to indicate tradition.

The torch is a symbol of the leadership and guidance that the school has offered throughout the years.

The book represents the broad education that WSSU students receive from the university.

The numerical "100" salutes the school's centennial birthday.



THE SYMBOLS OF OFFICE

The University Mace

Dr. Cleon F. Thompson, Jr. will be the first of Winston-Salem State University's chief administrators to be handed the university's MACE.

The MACE, a ceremonial staff used as a symbol of authority often carried in academic and ecclesiastical processions, was commissioned by the Office of the Chancellor and designed by Mr. Roland S. Watts, chairman of the WSSU Department of Art. The impressive work "... began as quite a challenge," says Mr. Watts, "and much time was spent in formulating ideas that were related to the university, and at the same time, a design that would be of today."

The MACE, which will be handed down from administration to administration, is 36 inches in length with a walnut staff inlaid with silver and a solid brass ball at the base. The design depicts space flight with the imaginary fins of a rocketship done in silver. The three rings are of brass and are representative of the atom. Mounted at the top of the rings is a figurine of Athena, the Greek goddess of wisdom.

The MACE is fabricated largely of solid brass metal, heavily plated with silver and gold. The plating is highly polished, except for the applied three emblems —the ram (the university mascot), the arch (a longstanding campus symbol), and the university seal—and the figurine which are antiqued. Above and below the three emblems encircling the collar of the mace are the inscriptions WINSTON-SALEM STATE UNIVERSITY . . . ENTER TO LEARN, DEPART TO SERVE in highlighted recessed letters.

H. DOUGLAS COVINGTON
CHANCELLOR 1977-1984

Dr. H. Douglas Covington assumed the Chancellorship of Winston-Salem State University on July 1, 1977. Dr. Covington is the sixth chief administrator of the University since its founding in 1892.

A native of Winston-Salem, North Carolina, Dr. Covington received his early education in his native state. He is a graduate of Central State University in Wilberforce, Ohio, where he earned a Bachelor of Science degree in 1957, and of The Ohio State University, where he received a Master of Science degree in 1958. He received his doctorate from The Ohio State University in 1966.

Winston-Salem State University and its many constituent groups were the principal beneficiaries of Dr. Covington's extensive background in educational administration. His professional positions included Vice-President for Development Affairs, Tuskegee Institute, Tuskegee, Alabama; Deputy Superintendent of Schools, Montclair, New Jersey; Assistant Superintendent for Curriculum, Saginaw, Michigan; Supervisor of Testing and Research, Gary Indiana Public Schools; Psychologist, Public Schools of Dayton, Ohio; and Adjunct Professor and Lecturer for Central State University, Ohio State University, Saginaw Valley State College, Montclair State College, and Seton Hall University.

Dr. Covington's achievements have been recognized by meritorious awards and citations from a number of professional and civic organizations. These include the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and National Council of Negro Women, the Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Phi Delta Kappa, the Hattie M. Strong Foundation, the Jessie Smith Noyes Foundation, the National Council for Exceptional Children and the Saginaw Model Cities Policies Board.

Dr. Covington was an advocate of a student-centered philosophy of education. Accordingly, he viewed higher education as the vehicle through which the student is equipped with basic knowledge and problem-solving skills directed toward development of his or her potential. He believes that the graduate of collegiate programs should be able to assess elements of surrounding circumstances, set objectives based on that assessment, and pursue those objectives successfully.

Dr. Covington's wife is the former Beatrice Mitchell of Dayton, Ohio. They are the parents of two sons, Anthony Douglas and Jeffrey Stevens. Dr. Covington's parents, Henry and Fannie Covington, are natives of Winston-Salem and currently resides in Salisbury, North Carolina.

BEATRICE MITCHELL COVINGTON The wife of Douglas Covington, the University's sixth chief administrator (1977-1984), Mrs. Covington played a strategic role in the renovation and refurbishment of the Chancellor's Residence on campus (now the Alumni House) and the Banner Avenue residence that is currently used. Mrs. Covington's public service included serving on the boards of the YWCA, the Arts Council of Winston-Salem/Forsyth County, the N.C. Arts Council as well as on advisory boards of the Salvation Army and the National Endowment for the Arts. She has also been a volunteer with the United Way, Friendship Force, the NAACP and the City of Winston-Salem's beautification program.

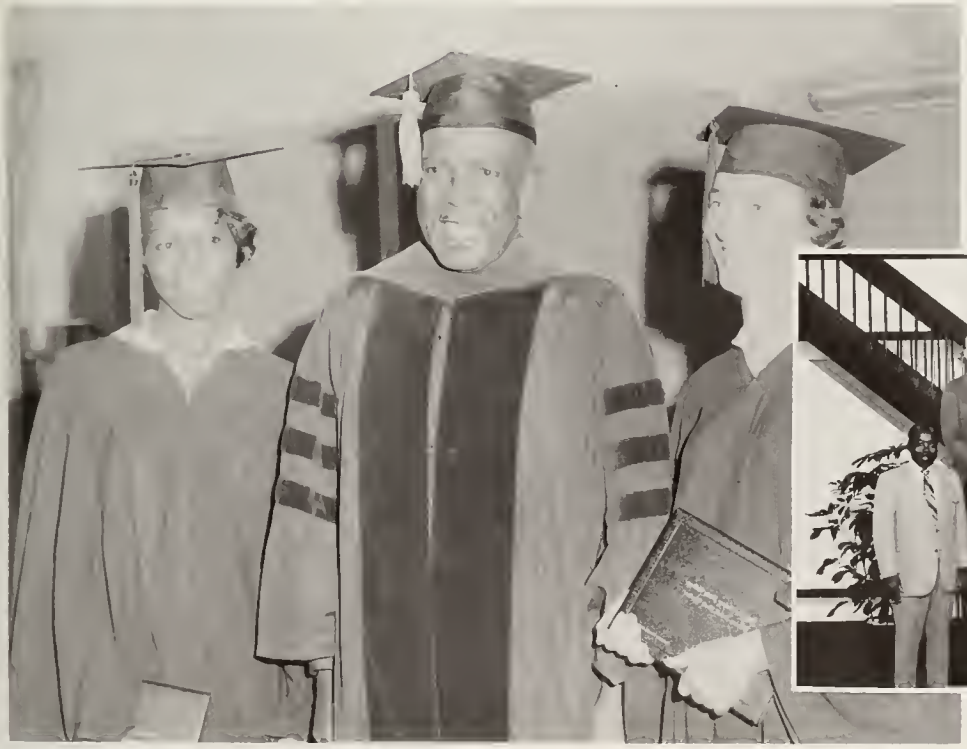
DR. KENNETH RAYNOR WILLIAMS
PRESIDENT 1961-1968
CHANCELLOR 1969-1977

A native of Norfolk, Virginia, Dr. Williams attended the public school of Winston-Salem, North Carolina, graduating from what was then Columbia Heights High School. He received the A.B. degree from Morehouse College, Atlanta, Georgia, and the M.A., S.T.B., and Ph.D. degrees from Boston University, Boston, Massachusetts. He was awarded the Doctor of Humane Letters by Morehouse College; and Doctor of Laws by Wake Forest University and Southern Illinois University.

Dr. Williams joined the faculty of the Winston-Salem Teachers College in 1936. With the exception of the two years from 1937-1939, when he taught at Palmer Memorial Institute at Sedalia, North Carolina, and three and one half years in the Army as a Chaplain, he was employed at Winston-Salem State University. He served as professor of Social Science and College Chaplain until 1946 when he became the James A. Gray Professor of the Bible and Chaplain. The Board of Trustees appointed his Executive and Chaplain. The Board of Trustees appointed him Executive Vice-President in February of 1961, Interim President in July of 1961 and President in May of 1962. This position was changed to Chancellor in 1972 when the University joined the University of North Carolina system.

Dr. Williams has served on numerous boards and committees. He was the first black person to win a seat on the Board of Aldermen of the City of Winston-Salem and the first black member of a city council in the entire South in the 20th century. He has given distinguished service to the community in a variety of ways . . . as pastor of at least two local churches and pastor emeritus of one and as a member of innumerable civic and professional organizations. A preeminent scholar, he was part of a special team of seven selected to travel to Poland to study Polish institutions of higher education. Dr. Williams received a Danforth Foundation grant to spend two months touring 16 foreign countries and 40 cities. At the close of Dr. Williams' administration at Winston-Salem State University, 39% of the faculty held earned doctorates. Many Capital Improvements were attributed his administration: These included the erection of the C.G. O'Kelly Library, the M.M. Hauser Student Union, The Kenneth R. Williams Auditorium, the Maintenance and Garage Building, The C.E. Gaines Center, Moore Hall, Dillard Hall and Brown Hall dormitories, the Coltrane Hall Classroom building.

EDYTHE WILLIAMS For the 16 years her husband, Kenneth R. Williams, served as president and chancellor (1961-1977), Mrs. Williams immersed herself in community work — from volunteering with the YWCA, the Urban League Guild and the American Red Cross to helping Democrats get elected (including Dr. Williams, who won a seat on the Board of Aldermen in 1947). She is a graduate of Winston-Salem Teachers College and taught elementary and high school before becoming First Lady. Mrs. Williams watched student protests during the racially turbulent 1960s and entertained such prominent figures as the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. and Dr. Benjamin Mays of Morehouse College.



FRANCIS LOGOUEN ATKINS PRESIDENT 1934-1961

Dr. Francis L. Atkins was born on December 6, 1896 in Winston-Salem. He was the fifth of six sons and three daughters of Simon Green and Oleona Pegram Atkins, founders of Slater Industrial Academy, now Winston-Salem State University. He was educated at Slater School and received the Bachelor of Arts degree from Lincoln University (Pa.) in 1920 as valedictorian of his class.

He returned to Winston-Salem Teachers College where he served in various capacities, including Instructor in Education, Registrar, and Dean. Upon Dr. Simon G. Atkins resignation as President in May 1934, Francis L. Atkins was elected to succeed his father as President.

Dr. Francis L. Atkins lived for Winston-Salem State University. What the campus is today, what it has meant to countless students in the past, and what it may become in the future, owes much to his labor and dedication. Indeed, it is difficult to separate the man from our institution. His 27-year tenure saw the development that transformed the small, local college into a broad-based, regional institution within the state university system.

Even after Atkins retired as president, he continued to teach and participate in campus activities for many years. He and his ever present cane were familiar sights on the campus as he talked with students and faculty members. Dr. Atkins was named president emeritus in 1974. Dr. Atkins died on Tuesday, January 26, 1982.

MARTHA SPENCER ATKINS The only First Lady to be honored with "Emeritus" status, Mrs. Atkins served as an instructor and university organist, and accompanied the dance group and the choirs under Noah Ryder and James Dillard. She was married to Francis Loguen Atkins in 1935, one year after he was elevated to fill the Slater presidency (1934-1961) when his father died. Mrs. Atkins came to what had long since become Winston-Salem Teachers College in 1934, after graduating with a music degree from West Virginia State College and engaging in private piano instruction, and in composition and concert work. She was the organist at First Baptist Church for 40 years, until her retirement in October 1984. Mrs. Atkins resides at her home in Winston-Salem.

Oleona Pegram Atkins — wife of F.L. Atkins — Pegram Hall Darmitary was named far her.

CADD GRANT O'KELLY PRESIDENT

Rev. Cadd Grant O'Kelly, A.M., Ph.D., D.D., was a native of Raleigh, where he was born only a few weeks before the close of the war, on February 14, 1865. His father, John O'Kelly, was a son of Jesse and Candace O'Kelly, and his mother, before her marriage, was Miss Anna L. Foster, a daughter of Roger and Lucy Foster.

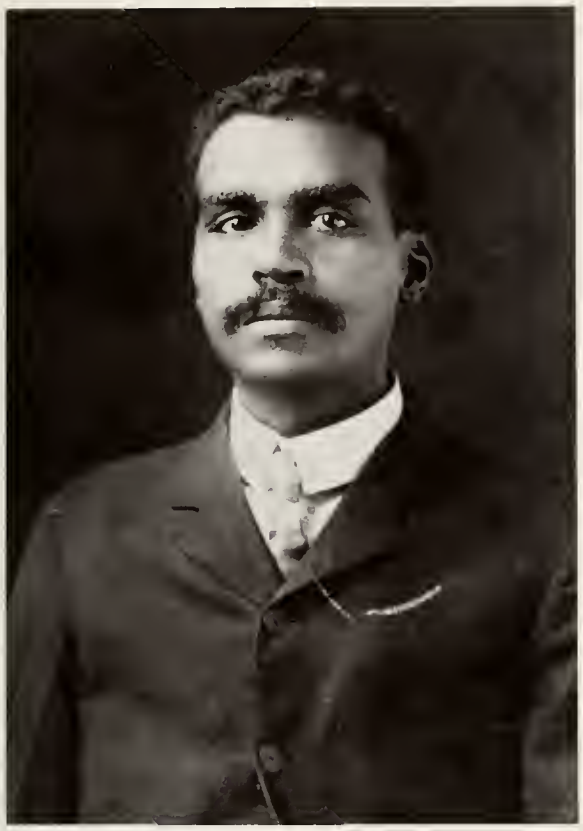
C.G. O'Kelly received his early education in Raleigh, his Bachelor of Arts degree from Lincoln University, and the Master of Arts degree from Columbia University.

He began his teaching career at Kittrell College. After a short stay, he came to Winston-Salem State, known then as Slater Industrial Academy. He was elected to the position of president during his stay at Slater and served during the years 1904-1910.

Throughout his teaching career, Mr. O'Kelly taught almost every subject, including Latin and music. He played and taught every instrument in the band and orchestra.

Mr. O'Kelly died on May 26, 1939, in Moorestown, New Jersey.

CORA ALICE BASS O'KELLY A graduate from the Normal Department of Slater Industrial and State Normal School in 1900, Cora Bass married Cadd Grant O'Kelly a year after he became president of the school in 1904 and served as First Lady until he resigned in 1910 to accept the vice presidency of the National Training School in Durham, NC. The training she received at Slater prepared her to teach school in Kittrell, NC. Mrs. Kelly died in 1923.



FRANCIS MARION KENNEDY

Francis Marion Kennedy was born February 2, 1869 in Maryville, Tennessee. He graduated from Maryville College in 1891, majoring in Classics and English. He was considered to be an excellent mathematician. He came to Raleigh, North Carolina, where he taught at Saint Augustine's College until May, 1904. During that time he completed the law course at Shaw University, and was admitted to the bar in Tennessee and in North Carolina. Also, during that time, he married, his three children, Harold L., Francis M., and Ruth Lolita, were born, and his wife died. When he left Raleigh, he returned to Maryville, but after only a few weeks he returned to Winston, North Carolina. Kennedy worked for two years as cashier of the Negro bank which he helped to establish, along with Simon Green Atkins and others. He married a second time. Kennedy Dining Hall is named for his wife, Mamie, who served Slater for many years as supervisor of the dining hall, and matron of the men's dormitory until her death in 1939. Along with others, Kennedy established in 1908 the Episcopal Mission (now Saint Stephen's Espiscopal Church.)

As the new head of Slater, he did not find the going easy. For anyone with a knowledge of the structural weakness in the educational system in the state, and the limitation in financial aid, the task would be a difficult one, and it took courage to assume responsibilities in such a position with the expectation of much success. He encountered the problems inherent in the matter of finance and curriculum development, and in organization, as well as some personal problems during his period of administration. As a man of sterling character, and thorough and broad scholastic training, and as a member of the faculty where he had served beginning in 1907, he was well-equipped to continue to promote sound scholarship and strong character at the school.

During 1910-1911 electric current and steam heating were installed, and four lots near the school were purchased. Kennedy advocated the teaching of agriculture and carpentry, and sponsored a colored animal fair. As a result of the electric lights, he acknowledged that there was better lighting and less danger from fire, but the cost was greater than when Slater Industrial and State Normal School — 1910-1911 with announcements for 1911-1912.

MAYME E. KENNEDY A teacher by training, Mrs. Kennedy was the wife of Francis Marion Kennedy, the president of Slater Industrial and State Normal School from 1910-13. Although Mrs. Kennedy was a matron and a Household Economic teacher for only one year before her husband resigned, she returned to the school in 1916. She remained there until 1939, serving in such roles as matron of the boys' and girls' dormitories, assistant supervisor of the laundry, stewardess and supervisor of the dining hall, which was named in her honor. She died in Winston-Salem on January 30, 1939.

SIMON GREEN ATKINS FOUNDER OF WINSTON-SALEM STATE UNIVERSITY

SIMON GREEN ATKINS was born June 11, 1863, in Haywood, Chatham County, North Carolina, the son of Allen and Eliza Atkins. He attended school in his home county, and in 1880 entered the academic department of St. Augustine's Normal and Collegiate Institute, Raleigh, graduating with distinction in 1884.

Sensing the need for an educational institution of higher learning for blacks, in 1892 Dr. Atkins established Slater Industrial Academy, the forerunner of Winston-Salem State University. Moreover, he dissuaded the thinking of Booker T. Washington and other black leaders of his day. In a speech at the 1901 Ecumenical Conference, Atkins encouraged his audience to "antagonize the idea that the Negro is to be prepared only for a field hand. Let him be made a man, and everything else will take care of itself." Dr. Atkins not only cared about the intellectual growth of young black boys and girls but also their moral and spiritual development as well.

Among Dr. Atkins' many scholarly and civic endeavors is the publication of a magazine known as the Southland, Published in 1890, this was the first black magazine in the country. Unlike many other black magazines during that time, this one dealt with the critical issues of the day and took a strong stand on race relations. It was through this magazine that Dr. Atkins displayed literary skills. He was labeled "a writer of supreme excellence." He authored the introductions to several books and wrote many articles which were published in leading black journals and periodicals.

Dr. Atkins did not limit his talents to religious work, education and literary endeavors. He was also interested in the growing and desperate needs of the black community. Having founded Slater Industrial Academy, he developed the surrounding as the first residential neighborhood for middle class blacks in Winston.

It can be said that Simon Green Atkins was not simply an important man in the history of Winston-Salem State University, but a man for all times, whose enduring philosophy pervades the university's current work and aspirations for tomorrow.

Dr. Atkins died June 28, 1934, seventeen days after his seventy-first birthday.

OLEONA PEGRAM ATKINS The "First Lady" among all the First Ladies, Mrs. Atkins labored side by side with her husband, Dr. Simon Green Atkins, the founder of Slater Industrial Academy, who served from 1892-1904 and 1913-1934. Mrs. Atkins was educated at Scotia Seminary in Concord, NC, and Fisk University and later taught English at both Scotia and Slater. During her many years at Slater, she was a valued adviser to her husband and helped in shaping and implementing the policies of the institution. She shared with Dr. Atkins successes as well as disappointments and served selflessly and incessantly. Mrs. Atkins died two years after Dr. Atkins, on June 23, 1936.
